SEE THINGS IN NEW LIGHT

Americans in Europe Become Committed to the Militarist Program.

I talked to a good many Americans who have resided in Europe for some time and found them, to a man, as much committed to the militarist program as the natives are—and always from the point of view of the country in which they are domiciled. Will Payne writes in the Saturday Evening Post. The American living in London sees the vital necessity to England of maintaining as many warships as any other two nations. Otherwise France and Russia or Germany and Italy, might shut off its food supplies, starve it into submission in a month and walk off with all its colonies.

The American in Paris sees that a disarmed France would immediately sink to insignificance among the nations, with a role in Europe about like that of Venezuela in America. In Rome he sees that Austria would reimpose its rule upon the country, or Austria and France would divide it up, if Italy relaxed its military preparedness. In Berlin he sees Russia pouring a horde of Cossacks across the frontier, unless the kaiser has a very warm welcome prepared for them, or England gobbling up German East Africa.

For each particular country there is a cogent reason why it must not let up in the competition of requirements and dreadnaughts. The people of that country believe in it, vote for it and pay for it. Probably there is no better test of a man's belief in a thing than the cheerfulness with which he will pay for it, and in that respect the kaiser's extraordinary military contribution brought out some interesting evidence.

THOUSANDS OF SWEET WORDS

Baroness' Breach of Promise Story is Considerably Longer Than Most Novels.

Depositions containing 76,000 words of the international love story of the "Baroness" Barbara Ursula von Kallin-owski have arrived in St. Louis and are ready for filing in the federal court in her $25,000 breach of promise suit against Michael J. Hurley, secretary of the Central Paint & Supply company.

The average love story as novels go is about forty-five thousand words, so that the baroness' romance outdoes fiction in point of bulk at least. The 315 typewritten pages, averaging 242 words to the page, consist mainly of testimony given by the baroness herself at a hearing instituted by Hurley in New York. She told in great detail of her meeting with Hurley, her alleged betrothal in Europe, and her chase over America in her efforts to induce the paint man to keep his promise.—St. Louis Republic.

Pier Pile His Sepulcher?

A weird explanation of the disappearance of a workman while the Garden pier at Atlantic City was in course of erection, more than a year ago, is given much credence. It was believed that the workman fell into the surf and was drowned, but the present rumor is to the effect that he fell into a caisson in which a monster concrete piling was being molded, and is solidly imbedded in this piling.
Color is lent to this theory by the fact that no trace of the workman's body has been discovered, and other workmen expressed doubt at that time that he fell into the ocean.

One of the workmen stated that an automatic contrivance discharged a ton or more of concrete into the caisson a moment after the workman fell, as it was believed, into the surf. It is his theory that the man's body was deluged with the concrete, and that the piling was completed as a grave for the man.

Tennis Ball Hit the King.

The president's recent experience on the golf course recalls an incident in the apocryphal adventures of the late King Edward. The scene was the tennis court at Homburg, where in the course of the big annual tournament a match was being played between an Englishman and an American, who shall not here be named.

The King, in order to get a better view of the play, moved his seat close up to the sidelines. This interfered with the American player's game, and nettled him considerably. So the first time that he got a chance to serve from the opposite court he deliberately sacrificed one ball. The wild serve went straight to its mark. When the Englishman and lords in waiting had reviewed the king they discreetly set his chair well back of the sidelines.

The American was not arrested for lese majeste.

Rest Periods for Employees.

Among the innovations being instituted at the new building of engraving and printing just finished in Washington, is a rest period of ten minutes in the middle of the forenoon, and in the afternoon. This rest is proving a great relief to the girls for instance, who do nothing but count money or perforate stamps and other such monotonous work. During this period the employees move around, can close their eyes, or enjoy the beautiful sun parlor on the roof. The government finds that so far from decreasing the amount of the daily output is this ten minutes of rest, that thanks to the relaxation the return to work is begun with much more vigor than more work is actually accomplished than without the rest.

PHALACROSIS WAS TOO MUCH

The Jury Decided That the Defendant Had Something the Matter With His Head.

The case was one of assault and battery, and one of the witnesses was a local doctor whom the prosecuting attorney proceeded to bully, suggesting that he was prejudiced in favor of the defendant and had wilfully distorted his evidence in his favor. The doctor denied this, and went on to say that the defendant was suffering from "phalacroslis." The word caused a sensation in court, and, asked to define the disease, the doctor described it as "a sort of chronic disease of an inflammatory nature which affects certain cranial tissues."

Asked if it affected the mind, the doctor said he was not posing as an expert, but he had known some persons when suffering from the disease to become raving maniacs, and others merely foolish; some showed destructive and pugilistic tendencies, while many others had suffered for years and had never shown any mental abnormalities. He refused to say anything further, and the jury promptly acquitted the accused; because, as the foreman explained, "Doctor said there was something the matter with his head."

When the case was over the prosecutor sought enlightenment as to the mysterious disease, and found that "phalacroslis" meant—baldness!

Yankees at Work in India.

A hundred and fifty miles from Calcutta, in Kalimati, stands the first steel and iron power plant ever constructed in India, the Edison Monthly says. This enterprise was projected by a wealthy Parsee, planned by an American engineer from Pittsburg and executed by another Pittsburg man with the assistance of native labor only.

Among workmen were Bengalis, Punjabis and Sikhs, for whom a town accommodating 25,000 was built in the midst of a jungle. The equipment of the plant included three horizontal turbo generators of the Zoelly type, capable of developing some 4,000 horse power, which is used to drive the machinery of the Tatia Iron and Steel company.

Market for American Autos.

A good market should be found in the Caucasus for lightweight low priced American automobiles. The American car is peculiarly suited to road conditions here, which are practically the same as in the United States. Purchasers have found the cars of European manufacture too heavy and swung too low and are turning their attention to the American product. Within the last few weeks two or three American runabouts have been brought in and have attracted wide and favorable interest.
There is every reason why the American will have a preference if advantageously priced.

GOT THE VISUAL EVIDENCE

Eastern Doctor Trails a Drink of Punch From the Lips to the Stomach.

Having followed with his eyes the course of a milk punch from the mouth of a patient into his stomach, Dr. Henry V. Broeser of Hoboken, N. J., began the treatment of a case in which visual evidence will take the place of books and theories in measures to effect a cure. The doctor seemed specially pleased with the prospect because, he said, the chances would be against recovery if he had to rely on the blind expedients which practitioners commonly employ in such maladies.

The novelty in this treatment consists of the use of the fluoroscope in observing alimentary and digestive processes. Dr. Broeser made the diagnosis. No one before him had employed the fluoroscope for such a case, so far as he knows.

His patient was placed in front of the lighting machine and the X-ray directed toward the body with an intensity of 11,000 volts, but with amperage so attenuated that the man experienced no discomfort. The extreme brightness of the ray projected on a glass screen, coated with a salt solution of barium, platinum and cyanide, a replica in shadows of the living body, showing the beating heart and other organs so clearly that when the milk punch was drunk its passage from mouth to stomach was perfectly visible on the glass.

HISTORY A TURBULENT ONE

Since Its Freedom From Spain Mexico Has Passed Through Many Revolutions.

Mexico's history as a "republic" began ninety-one years ago, when Gen.
Iturbide, who had been chosen emperor of Mexico and had taken the title of Augustin I, was forced to abdicate. The war for freedom from Spain began in 1810, and after a struggle of eleven years Iturbide decided the conflict in favor of the patriots and made a triumphal entry into the City of Mexico. The leaders decided to form the country into an empire, and Iturbide offered the crown to Spanish princes. The offer was refused and Iturbide himself was elected to the imperial throne. In July, 1822, he was crowned in the City of Mexico, but his reign was destined to be brief. Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna raised an army of rebels and, after several victories, forced Iturbide to abdicate on March 23, 1823. Santa Anna had previously proclaimed the "republic," and continued at its head until Gen. Guadalupe Victoria was "elected" president the following year. Iturbide was put to death when he returned to Mexico.
Thus was a precedent established for the deposition of Guerrero, Arista, Santa Ana, Carera, Alvarez, Common-fort, Juarez, Zuloaga, Miramon, Emperor Maximilian, Lerdo de Tejada, Iglesias, Diaz and Madero.

Hatched by Water Bottle.

Mrs. W. H. Cross of Salem, Ore., had a setting of eggs from a fine variety of chickens. So happy was she in their possession that she all but counted the chicks before they were hatched. She was equally downcast, naturally, when the hen, after 12 days of careful setting, deserted the nest.

Mrs. Cross found the eggs before they became chilled and placed them in a box behind the stove in her living room. Then she pondered quickly, for she was determined not to lose the chickens, and the problem was solved.

The hot-water bottle was requisitioned as a substitute for the recreant hen. It was filled with tepid water and placed over the eggs.

Then Mrs. Cross conferred with her family physician regarding the temperature at which the water should be kept. She followed instructions to the letter, with the result that six chickens were hatched from the original 13.

Highest Paid Navy.

The United States navy, which has been deprived of all intoxicating liquors, is the most highly paid of the world's navies. An American admiral draws $3,000 a year, as compared with $1,990 allotted to the same rank in Great Britain, and $900 in Germany; and all the other grades of officers are equally well paid in proportion, remarks the London Chronicle. Even on the lower deck it is possible to draw pay amounting to $30 a month and every sailor after ten years' service, is entitled to a substantial pension for life. There is no need to become an American citizen before enlisting. According to a return issued two years ago, the United States navy then contained 636 Germans, 435 Irishmen, 294 Swedes, 236 Englishmen, 232 Chinese and 214 Japanese, besides 2,875 foreigners who had taken naturalization papers.

Wronged.

Representative Henry told at a tea in Waco an international alliance story.

"The fair young daughter of the billionaire"—such was Mr. Henry's sneering beginning—"had accepted the earl of Lacland; but her father still seemed ill at ease.

"I don't believe," the old man complained, "I don't believe that boy has sound ideas of finance."

"You are wrong, papa," the young girl answered. "Why, he stopped right in the middle of his proposal to ask how many interlocking directorates you held."
